PREDICT ARREST IN
ROBLES KIDNAPING
BE MADE IN TEXAS

RANGER CAPTAIN HAMER
INTIMATES DEVELOPMENTS
NEAR AT HAND

AUSTIN, May 17.—(P)—Capt. D. E. Hamer of Rangers' headquarters company revealed today he expected an arrest in the June Robles kidnaping case in Texas 12 hours after the arrival here tomorrow night of "an operative" from Chicago.

Captain Hamer declined to reveal who the operative was or his position. He also refused to say in what sector the arrest likely would be made.

His prediction was made after telephone conversations with Sheriff Bolton of Tucson, home of the six year old girl who was recovered Monday after being held captive 19 days, and with authorities at Chicago.

Captain Hamer said he anticipated no development of the case in Texas prior to the arrival of the Chicago operative.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 17.—(P)—June Robles is going back to school Monday to try to forget the horror of 19 days alone in a desert hole.

The ordeal of her cruel imprisonment by kidnapers has cut deeply into her young mind.

From Carlos Robles, uncle of the little girl and one of those who rescued her last Monday, came the statement that the six-year-old victim has been more affected physically and emotionally than appeared to casual observers.

Pitiful efforts by the child to amuse herself with dolls fashioned out of date seeds and paper while she sheltered beneath a desert sun when she was lifted from a grave like hole were related.

Spurred by Revelations
Spurred on by these revelations, authorities extended their efforts to find her abductors.

"It has been difficult," Carlos said, "to secure any information from June about the time she lived in the tin box (lining the hole). It repels her to speak of those days and she recoils when asked a direct question. I have had to use subterfuge in eliciting information as we play with her bunnies, or cut out paper dolls, I have secured bit by bit, details of those 19 days."

Carlos Robles is assistant Plano county attorney and together with County Attorney Clarence Houston they found the girl, being directed to her hiding place by an anonymous letter from Chicago. "I asked her, 'Carlos said,' if the kidnapers had given her any dolls or things to play with. She replied they had not, 'but they gave me a box of dates that had paper around it. After I ate the dates I had a lot of seeds, and I

MOTHER KISSING JUNE ROBLES

The mother had been almost frantic with anxiety and grief since her little daughter had been kidnapped.

FORT WORTH, May 17.—(P)—

The Southern Baptist convention heard today from J. H. Rushbrook, of London, general secretary of the World Alliance, to be held in Berlin in August, that the hosts would not interfere with sessions of the gathering.

Rushbrook wrote that "it is simply ludicrous to suppose that it is unsafe to go to Germany." He stated there was "no foundation for the idea that in Germany our congress would be denied freedom of speech."

"If the world alliance had not been fully convinced upon that point, it never would have consented to go," Rushbrook assured the convention. "They have not asked us to suppress our principles or to come as anything other than we are—evangelicals and Baptists."

OLD QUARRELS TO DELAY PROGRESS OF
BILLS IN CONGRESS

PRESIDENT EXPECTED SUB-MIT RECOMMENDATIONS ON VARIED SUBJECTS

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(P)—It became more evident today that time-marked quarrels are going to make this congressional windup anything but placid.

Already the senate was in tarry, throwing the house bill for presidential trade bargaining powers.

And taking shape at the white house was a Roosevelt recommendation for a bi-metallic monetary policy, potentially the forerunner of the greatest gold-silver debate since the nineteenth century.

Four other messages with dispute a probable outgrowth of each, were on schedule before the attempt to adjourn June 5.

On two subjects, war debts and munitions, the President was expected merely to give information or state views.

On the other two, the coconut oil import levy he opposes and social reform legislation he favors, he was expected to make definite recommendations.

The house, meanwhile, had to day to deal only with the federal contribution to government of the district of Columbia.

The President's declaration for the house side on major items in

STARTS WORK ON MONEY
DOCUMENT; THREE MAJOR
POINTS IN PLAN

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(P)—President Roosevelt, in agreement with the Senate silver bloc, will speed his message to Congress proposing a bi-metallic stand for United States currency.

The chief executive set about writing this new money document today for this dispatch possibly in 48 hours. He was reported satisfied with the understanding. It will mean the purchase of a huge store of silver, estimated up to 1,800,000 ounces.

Congressional leaders rearranged their legislative calendars to make room for action on the new administration's proposed before the scheduled early June adjournment. The program in rough outline will call for:

1. A mandatory declaration of policy that silver shall be purchased until it constitutes 25 per cent of the nation's monetary backing, as against 75 per cent gold.

2. Discretionary authority as to the time and amount of purchases in world markets to bring about the desired ratio.

In Dallas, Smith telephoned Terrell and Thompson stating, "I can not sign an order restricting the activities of R. D. Parker to East Texas oil fields in the light of present developments. I feel that the proposed order would be a repudiation of the commission's order of March 31 which named Mr. Parker as 'chief administrator' in oil and gas matters for Texas."

Thompson denied there was any controversy with the chairman of the commission.

It had been rumored in East Texas that Parker might resign his connection with the commission.

In Dallas today, he declined to say whether he planned to re-sign if the proposed order was made effective.

The order said in part:

"The reason for this order is

FEDERAL CURRENCY
COMPTROLLER TELLS RAPID RECOVERY

BILLION DOLLAR JUMP IN NATIONAL BANK ASSETS AND DEPOSITS

DALLAS, May 17.—(P)—A billion-dollar jump in National bank assets and deposits in the first two months of 1934 was announced today by J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency.

He said assets increased from $21,747,483,000 on December 30, to $22,941,173,000 on March 5, while deposit liabilities went up $1,200,605,000 to $18,790,487,000.

O'Connor gave the figures in an address at the fiftieth anniversary meeting of the Texas Bankers' Association. It was the first public statement of results of the March 5 call for the condition of National banks.

The total assets of the 5,293 licensed National banks operating on an unrestricted basis in the continental United States, Alaska and Hawaii on March 5, O'Connor said, "amounted to $22,941,173,000 in comparison with total assets of $21,747,483,000 reported by 5,159 National banks as of December 30, 1933, the date of the previous call, and total assets of $20,860,491,000 reported by 4,902 National banks as of June 30, 1933, the date of the mid-summer call."

Losses and discounts, including redemptions, showed a decline, however. From $8,116,972,000 last June 30, this indicator of bank business dropped to $8,101,156,000 in December and to $7,899,279,000 in March.

Federal Holdings.

Reflecting the large fluctuations of federal obligations, O'Connor said National bank holdings of government obligations went to $5,407,346,000 in March, $627,203,000 increase over December and $1,775,772,000 over June. The investments in miscellaneous bonds, stocks and securities were

North Corsicana Missionary Women Report Progress

North Corsicana Missionary women are gaining new members everytime we meet, to say we are enthused only mildly expresses it. Mrs. S. A. Pope and Mrs. Clyde Gray were delegates to Fort Worth to the meeting there several weeks ago and brought back such a splendid report, and last Sunday, May 13th, Mother's Day, we observed the name of the winner each year is also engraved on the large bronze plate situated in the general office of the high school building. The present winner's name will be the fourth on the plate.

In most fitting manner.

All mothers in our church and Sunday school had a special invitation.

Also we had promotion day in connection with the Mother's day program. Mrs. Lewis Mathewson, our able superintendent was our leader in all the program and she is an efficient leader at all times, having taught school so many years, she knows just what to do.

The decorations were just beautiful, having as a member of the Indianola, Mrs. Mary Sikes, a florist.

She no generous contribution of her beautiful roses, which was so kind of her to do. We certainly appreciate having her with us. Mrs. Sikes has one of the most beautiful rose gardens in Texas for its size.

Mrs. Clyde Gray is organizing a young peoples' missionary society.

Next Tuesday is our regular meeting day and we have planned to have an all day meeting and quilt a quilt, also have a good dinner and one not associated in some other church work we will welcome to come in and help us carry on the Master's work.

Little Roark Meador Wins Balfour Medal In Wortham Schools

WORTHAM, May 17.—(Spl.)—Little Roark Meador, Wortham high school senior, has been announced winner of the Balfour Medal. This is a most coveted award as the medal is earned by the best all-round student graduating gradon four years based on loyalty, scholarship and achievements.

The name of the winner each year is also engraved on the large bronze plate situated in the general office of the high school building. The present winner's name will be the fourth on the plate.

In most fitting manner.

All mothers in our church and Sunday school had a special invitation.

Also we had promotion day in connection with the Mother's day program. Mrs. Lewis Mathewson, our able superintendent was our leader in all the program and she is an efficient leader at all times, having taught school so many years, she knows just what to do.

The decorations were just beautiful, having as a member of the Indianola, Mrs. Mary Sikes, a florist.

She no generous contribution of her beautiful roses, which was so kind of her to do. We certainly appreciate having her with us. Mrs. Sikes has one of the most beautiful rose gardens in Texas for its size.

Mrs. Clyde Gray is organizing a young peoples' missionary society.

Next Tuesday is our regular meeting day and we have planned to have an all day meeting and quilt a quilt, also have a good dinner and one not associated in some other church work we will welcome to come in and help us carry on the Master's work.

JUNE ROBLES

Heads of the conferees took the paper and dressed up the seeds as pretend dolls.

Had Create Amusements. "The long days must have been very difficult for the child without amusements other than she could provide for herself."

Nothing has been disclosed in the investigation, authorities said, to cause doubt on June's story that she was held for 19 days in the desert trench—the entire time she was missing.

Carlos related how June told hundreds of ants crawled over her and the scant food left for her and how the ants stung her little body, already painful with sunburn. Chained by her ankles to a stake, June had no chance to leave the virtual coffin which was hidden with brush and mesquite.

The kidnappers never attempted to contact Fernando Robles, June's father, for the $15,000 ransom they demanded in a note he received two hours after June was kidnapped April 25 as she was homeward from school.

FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN BODY TO SEEK MORE FUNDS

President A. F. Mitchell of the Corsicana Federal Savings and Loan Association, has sent out a letter to all shareholders of this organization calling a meeting for Thursday, May 24, at the Chamber of Commerce, for the purpose of deciding on the future of the organization.

According to the call letter, the charter has been received but no loans have been made to date due to the fact that government requirements to validate the charter have not been met up to the present time. The stockholders are called to determine whether the association will become active or let the charter expire due to failure to validate same. Two paragraphs in the letter explaining why quick action is deemed necessary are quoted as follows:

"On April 28, 1934 legislation was enacted into law, which will enable this association to receive much more substantial assistance from the government, this was possible at the time our charter was delivered. I do not believe Corsicana citizens want to pass up the opportunity to help themselves, and at the same time establish a permanent home financing institution here to serve for years to come.

"But we must act now, or not at all, and additional cash must be paid into the association at once. Your directors are of the opinion that at least $7,500.00 should be in the treasury at the start. Over $4,000.00 cash is on hand."

WORLD CHILD WELFARE

The child welfare committee of the League of Nations has recently submitted a report on the effect of the depression on the youth of the world. Its findings are based on data submitted by delegates of the United States, Belgium, Denmark, France, the United Kingdom, Italy, Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, the League's international Labor Office, the Canadian Child Welfare Council and other private organizations.

The reports from these countries show "a surprising unanimity." They declare that the depression has had "disastrous effects" upon youth everywhere. Children in many lands have suffered from the strained and discouraged family atmosphere. They have suffered from the anxiety of their parents. They have suffered from undernourishment. Although death rates have not risen strikingly—and in many cities in America have actually declined—a trend toward poor health and lowered vitality and a predisposition to tuberculosis and rickets have been observed. Finally, the committee recommends that the League Council ask all governments to study and apply, if possible, these aids to child welfare:

Abolition of child labor, extension of the period of compulsory schooling, internal colonization, development of suburban colonies, voluntary labor camps, voluntary organizations created by young people, occupational guidance and vocational training.

The recommendations are not particularly new, but they should have new weight in public and domestic councils in the light of the League report.

SHAKESPEARE IN GERMANY.

The German Shakespeare Society met in Weimar on the anniversary of the great poet's birth and proclaimed him "the greatest dramatist of the German race." To clinch that a speaker declared that "the whole conception of Shakespeare's personality must be revised." He also scorned "the mere philologists' interpretation of Shakespeare," whatever that means.

Well, one can hardly blame the Germans for seeking ways to avoid banning Shakespeare, and if he is to be retained on their purified reading list, naturally he must be classed in the German race. The Germans claimed him, one recalls, in their World War propaganda.

Some day, however, Germans are going to find out that the greater writers they have banned, as well as those they still approve, actually belong to the human race and have no quarrel with any individual branch of it, including the German. When that time comes, are they not going to feel ashamed of the Nazi book bonfire and other shortsighted Nazi acts?

If you want to do something useful about the crime wave, every time you read of a bandit armed with a machine gun, ask where he got it, and why.

Don't feel humble when looking at the stars, advises an astronomer. We can see and understand them, but they don't know anything about us.

REST CURE

Get out into a cabin where the woods are cool and sweet, let your appetite remind when it's time again to eat. Leave your Bryant watch behind you. There's a great disk overhead. That will tell you when it's morning and the time to go to bed.

Forget the strain and hurry of this scheduled life of ours, Get out and be a brother to the song birds and the flowers. Get a spade and dig a garden; get an axe and split some wood; Know the calm of mere existence; it will do your spirit good. Here's the cure for nerves that tingle; get acquainted if you can With cold and thirst and hunger those three friendly foes of man. Learn the peace of wanting little; claim the joy of muscles strong And let earth provide your dinner and the birds provide your song.

AMERICAN CHARACTER

For a long time foreigners have been coming to this land, observing its citizens and writing books about them. Not all the books have been flattering, but most of them agree that there is something distinctive about the American people. In 1898 James F. Muirhead called it the American "note."

"This note," he wrote, "includes a sense of immeasurable expansion and possibility; . . . a wider realization of human brotherhood than has yet existed; . . . a breezy indifference to authority and a positive predilection for innovation; a marked alertness of mind and a manifold interest; above all, an inextinguishable hope and courage."

James Bryce said:

"The average American is more alive to new ideas, more easily touched through his imagination or his emotions, than the average Englishman or Frenchman. He has a keen sense of humor and an unquenchable faith in his future."

A Frenchman, De Tocqueville, said:

"What we should call cupidity, the Americans frequently term a laudable industry; and they blame as faintheartedness what we consider the virtue of moderate desires. Democracy does not give people the most skilful government, but it produces what the ablest governments are frequently unable to create—namely,

an all-pervading and restless activity, a superabundant force, and an energy which is insuperable from it, and which may, however,

unfavorable the circumstances may be, produce wonders. These are the true advantages of democracy."

Do these comments de- scribe the distinctive Amer- ican character today? Are we as a nation as devoted to human brotherhood as formerly, as enthusiastic about innovations, as alive to new ideas and as able to accomplish wonders in spite of unfavorable circum- stances?

BY POPULAR MAJORITY

The answer is probably both yes and no. The "inextinguishable hope and courage" and the "unquenchable faith in our future" seem to survive, but some of the other qualities have more and more to fight for their place in the American character.

OPERATIC STATES. MANSHP

It was a sad day for Hitler when he undertook to Nazify religion in Germany. He is failing on all fronts. The most striking evidence so far is the revocation of the decree of last January that made Dr. Mueller the official head and absolute boss of the Protestant church. The Protestant Christians have defied Nazism and got away with it.

The Nazi war against the Jews is losing, as the latter fight back throughout the world, using economic weapons along with their moral propaganda.

In the Catholic Church Hitler has bumped his head against a stone wall. It becomes more and more obvious, even to the Nazis themselves, that they cannot swing the nation back from the Hebrew and Christian faiths to the old heathen gods of Wagner's operas. Only in music and on the stage is that possible.

Chicago gets another break. Great Lakes levels are the lowest since 1860, and nobody's saying a word about that drainage canal.

NEW DRAIN PIPES FOR COURT HOUSE TO BE INSTALLED

Installation of new drain or surface pipes under the Navarro county courthouse will be started within the near future. It is estimated by Architects H. O. Shinn and M. T. Horn that the work materials will approximate $800.

The old pipes have become in bad state of repair and in some instances have been practically destroyed and decayed, allowing sections of the dirt under the basement to become wet.

This work is to be in addition to the extensive foundation and wall repairs under way at the present time under the federal employment agency.

The proposal for the replacing of the old drain pipes was presented to the commissioners Monday and was approved, C. E. McWilliams, county judge, stated Tuesday.

Oak Valley Home Demonstration Club In Session Monday

Oak Valley Home demonstration club met Monday afternoon, May 14, at the home of Mrs. Tom Bryson, with eighteen members, three new members and three visitors.

The club was organized to order by our president Mrs. T. E. Young. Exercises opened with song. After a short business meeting at which a committee was appointed to get a new cooker and toaster, using funds obtained from ice cream supper and quilt, Mrs. Ruth McNabb gave us a very interesting talk on our goal for 1934, first she discussed the pantry and she stressed the importance of planning a food budget to meet needs of family. Each member is to prepare four containers of quality products for exhibition.

She also requested that the members make a dress for the county clothing contest, using their foundation pattern.

After a refreshment plate of strawberry ice cream and cake was served, the meeting adjourned to meet May 28 at the home of Mrs. O. King. —Reporter.

FIRST METHODIST WORKERS COUNCIL MET LAST NIGHT

The Workers Council of the First Methodist Church school met Wednesday night with W. H. Norwood, general superintendent, presiding, and a goodly number of workers present.

Reports were made by the various department superintendents and while all reports showed much activity, they also showed a lack of teachers and workers in several of the departments for properly carrying on the work of the school. Attendance figures were studied and it was agreed that church school attendance was not up to what it should be.

After a talk by Mr. Norwood on attendance, the council voted to set 600 as the goal for attendance Sunday, May 27th. The council also voted to have the two weekly Daily Vacation Bible school, and set the opening date for Monday, June 18th. The school will run two weeks, with two hour sessions each day from 9 until 11. Details will be worked out more fully on this and a committee will meet again Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for further planning.

THREE MEN ADMIT PARTICIPATION IN GETTLE KIDNAPING

HEALTHY CALIFORNIAN IS RESCUED FROM HOUSE; NO RANSOM PAYMENT

LOS ANGELES. May 15.—Three men arrested in the kidnaping of William F. Gettle, who was released unransomed and unharmed last night, were reported by authorities today to have admitted participation in the abduction of the Beverly Hills millionaire.

Statements of the three, made in the presence of police detectives and sheriff's deputies and pressmen in spectators' gallery of Kirk, as the alleged "brains" of the plot, Larry Kerrigan, as the man who guarded Gettle, and Roy Williams, as the one who aided Kirk in seizing the millionaire at his summer home last week.

Under questioning by Capt. Morris G. Stensland of the sheriff's office, Kerrigan was quoted as saying he was to have received $60,000 for acting as Gettle's guard and that Kirk had ordered Gettle to write the letters regarding arrangements for delivery of the $60,000 ransom.

Kirk, in his statement before the officers, said the plot to kidnap Gettle was his idea, but the Williams and Kerrigan helped him make the plans.

Asked if anyone else was involved in the plot, Kirk said: "That's all."

He said he knew nothing about two women, Loretta Woody and Joan Burke, now in custody.

Williams, in his statement, said he and Kirk were the two men who kidnapped Gettle.

Kirk Confessed.

Kirk confessed after statements by Kerrigan and Williams were read to him in their presence the transcript of the questioning showed.

"Are the statements of Williams and Kerrigan true?" he was asked.

"It's true. I can't say anything

Q. Have you anything further to add to this?

A. The only thing is that I wish I had these cuffs off and I'd kick hell out of these guys.

Q. Who figured this out?

A. Who was it?

Q. Did any of these two men help plan it with you?

Q. Sure, they both helped plan it.

Q. Whose idea was it in the beginning?

A. Mine.

Q. Is that what you came from San Francisco to Los Angeles to do?

A. No.

Q. Did you have it in mind when you came down here?

A. No.

Q. Why did you happen to pick out Mr. Gettle?

A. He just happened to be a rich man.

Q. As a matter of fact you forged a check on him some time ago, didn't you?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever know the man before?

A. No.

Q. Ever see him before?

A. No.

Q. Anyone else included in this kidnaping?

A. That is all.

Bound To Bed.

Officers found the retired broker last night, bound to a bed and his face covered with a court plaster mask, in a little house in the foothills town of La Crescenta, only a few miles from here.

They arrested five persons in connection with the kidnaping, which occurred five days ago.

Gettle, half-dragged but smiling, said "It all seemed like a bad dream."

"My greatest worry while I lay bound hand and foot on that bed was for the anxiety my absence would cause my wife and family."

"Thank God," murmured Mrs. Gettle, an invalid, when word of the rescue was given her.

Gettle's rescue came unexpectedly following an unsuccessful attempt yesterday to pay $60,000 ransom in exchange for his safe return to his wife and four small children.

The kidnapers, even before the crime had been perpetrated, made the mistake which led to last night's arrest and the return of Gettle.

Attracted Police Attention

The officers, who were attracted by the actions of the police robbery gang, were seeking a lead of bank robbers. They placed recording devices in the apartment rented by the suspects.

But results were lacking. Officers were ready to give up last Saturday when one of the records, running in police quarters, scratched out a conversation:

"Things are pretty in shape. The newspapers look favorable. I understand no one can take my telephone line."

It wasn't much, but enough.

While police sheriff's deputies and district attorney's operatives buzzed somberly over the ransom payment failure, Capt. Harry Seagren and Lt. H. P. Gearhart bidden the men at the apartment to the "poker room" when home was won at the Gettle mansion the law struck. Jimmy Kirk and two women, Loretta Woody and Joan Burke, were arrested.

From Kirk they obtained the address of the kidnap house where Gettle was held.

Close In On House.

Armed forces moved in on the house, situated on the edge of one of the arroyos down which the New Year's day flood waters swept many persons to their deaths.

They took us on down the wall. Then they took us on down the wall. Then they took us on down the wall. Then they took us on down the wall.

Wolf said, "Hell, I can't get up there," so they taped him to the tree.

And then they told me to start up the ladder and when I got to the top I fell over on the ground. I thought I had broken my leg. So they stopped and rubbed my leg and then got me into the car.

When they got me in the car, they shoved me into the back. It was a two-door sedan, a kind of brown car and they kept pushing my head down so I couldn't see.

Then we rode a long way. I don't know how far, until we got to the prison house. Then they took me to get out quietly and took me in and threw me on the bed, my hands and legs were still tied.

Q. What about this blindfold?

WELL, they kept the blindfold on me all the time I could peek out of the corner a little and then later they took the tape off my mouth when I promised to keep still, but they kept me dressed, my legs taped and made me stay there.

They took me to get out quietly and took me in and threw me on the bed, my hands and legs were still tied.

Congress Requested to Make $1,322,000,000 Available for Relief

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today for $1,322,000,000 to taper off the emergency recovery expenditures during the coming government year.

The main portion of the fund—$940,905,000—was assigned by the president for general relief and public works purposes. He asked discretionary power to use it as demands required.

Out of this, however, he has tagged $100,000,000 for road construction; $40,000,000 for starting the navy ship building program; $48,000,000 for the Tennessee Valley authority; $35,000,000 for public buildings construction; and $5,000,000 for the inter-American highway.

The appropriation would increase the government debt to the all-time peak of $81,884,000,000 for June 30, 1935, as fixed in the two-year budget submitted to congress in January.

Pointing to pay-as-you-go basis for the 1936 fiscal year, the president warned in his message:

"In my judgment an appropriation in excess of the above amount would make more difficult if not impossible an actual balance of the budget in the fiscal year, 1936, unless greatly increased taxes are provided."

Should Be Sufficient. "The present estimates should be sufficient as a whole to take care of the emergencies of relief and of orderly reemployment at least until the early part of the calendar year, 1935. If, at that time conditions have not improved as much as we hope today, the next congress will be in session and will have full opportunity to act."

Simultaneously strong intimations came from high government sources that the administration expects the banks to do a greater share of carrying the load and putting out credit to carry the recovery drive along.

Today's appropriations request equals the $2,268,000,000 emergency recovery fund proposed for the 1934-1935 fiscal years in the Roosevelt budget of January. The president trimmed down today's estimate to take care of within the $3,160,000,000 limit the extra appropriations voted by this congress, including added allowances for veterans and government salaries.

C. C. C. Would Get Part. The civilian conservation corps would get $285,000,000 of the fund proposed today.

The $100,000,000 tentatively tagged by the president for road construction contracts with the $460,000,000 road authorization bill recently voted by the house.

However, it is the opinion of Mr. Roosevelt that planned civil works is a quick method of providing work relief and spreading government expenditures and there is every indication that he has a renewal of the civil works administration in mind on a more planned basis that the emergency CWA put quickly into operation last winter.

The deficit for this fiscal year ending June 30 so far stands at little more than $3,000,000,000 whereas the original Roosevelt budget contemplated a $7,000,000,000 deficit for this year and $2,000,000,000 next year.

Lower Than Estimated. "It is true that actual expenditures since January have proceeded at a slower rate than estimated," the president explained. "Nevertheless, it must be borne in mind that even though the actual deficit for the year ending June 30, 1934, will be below my estimate, appropriations are still in force and the amounts actually to be expended during the following fiscal year will, therefore, be increased over and above my estimate for that fiscal year.

In this connection it is relevant to point out that during the fiscal year 1934 it is estimated that there will be actually expended on public works $1,500,000,000 out of appropriations heretofore made."

Necessity Continues. In my budget message of January 3, 1934, it was pointed out that there could be no abrupt termination of emergency ex-

BOY SCOUT COURT OF HONOR BE HELD ON FRIDAY, MAY 25

The Boy Scout Court of Honor will be held Friday night, May 25th, in the educational building of the First Methodist church, starting at eight o'clock. There are fans and the meeting room will be cool and comfortable.

Harry Howard, chamber of commerce manager and the new scoutmaster for the First Methodist church troop, is expected to have his troop in shape to be ready for this meeting. All scoutmasters are asked to have their troops in readiness for this as demands required.

The president trimmed down today's estimate to take care of within the $3,160,000,000 limit the extra appropriations voted by this congress, including added allowances for veterans and government salaries.

C. C. C. Would Get Part. The civilian conservation corps would get $285,000,000 of the fund proposed today.

The $100,000,000 tentatively tagged by the president for road construction contracts with the $460,000,000 road authorization bill recently voted by the house.

However, it is the opinion of Mr. Roosevelt that planned civil works is a quick method of providing work relief and spreading government expenditures and there is every indication that he has a renewal of the civil works administration in mind on a more planned basis that the emergency CWA put quickly into operation last winter.

The deficit for this fiscal year ending June 30 so far stands at little more than $3,000,000,000 whereas the original Roosevelt budget contemplated a $7,000,000,000 deficit for this year and $2,000,000,000 next year.

Lower Than Estimated. "It is true that actual expenditures since January have proceeded at a slower rate than estimated," the president explained. "Nevertheless, it must be borne in mind that even though the actual deficit for the year ending June 30, 1934, will be below my estimate, appropriations are still in force and the amounts actually to be expended during the following fiscal year will, therefore, be increased over and above my estimate for that fiscal year.

In this connection it is relevant to point out that during the fiscal year 1934 it is estimated that there will be actually expended on public works $1,500,000,000 out of appropriations heretofore made."

Necessity Continues. In my budget message of January 3, 1934, it was pointed out that there could be no abrupt termination of emergency ex-

WAKE UP!

Wake Up Your Face
This chat is for sleepy heads. Miss Forbes tells what to do to your face of a morning when it shows the effects of a late night.

Half the girls you see in cars and subways going down to work, mornings, look partially asleep. If it comes to that, many of the housewives, off for morning bargain hunting in the shops, do not look thoroughly awake enough to realize they have got breakfast, and done at least some of the housework.

Let's see how to save time in the morning and yet be awake, and look and feel awake, by the time you are out of the house. I mean to look well too, fresh and rested.

Of course a bath helps, but some of us cannot get the bathroom alone long enough for this, so hot and cold water on the face must do. You have of course removed your make-up the night before, so your face is clean. Well, hot water is soothing and cold wakes you up, and a dash of skin tonic makes you feel fresh. If you've been up too late and your eyes show it, it is worth taking 30 seconds to wash out the eyes with an eye-cup and boracic acid solution—any druggist sells this. Then foundation cream and powder, later a touch of rouge and lipstick—not much; look pale if you feel that way, only don't look deathly. A little vaseline or cold cream on the eyelids does a lot to make the eyes look larger and the lashes longer and it gives a sort of finish to the face—you need only spread a bit on the thumb and first finger and take a few seconds to rub the lashes. End by pinching the eyebrows into place with the fingers still moist from the cream, this is a perfect finish.

If you are wise, and your hair tumbles about at night you will sleep with a net over it. These are not unsightly, and they do hold in curls and loose ends, so that in a few seconds your hair is combed and ready.

L.R.A.—A Rachel shade of powder should be becoming to you and not show when applied to your skin. Your trouble may be due to the fact that you merely dust the powder over the skin, instead of rubbing it in over small areas. You may do this by dipping your finger tips into the powder, you then cover a small part of the skin at a time, taking up very little powder and aiming to cover as much of the skin as is possible, using tiny rotary movements. You will have to do a bit of stroking in such places as the nose and around the eyes. You may also do the same thing with a small piece of absorbent cotton, dampened slightly with water. The powder will remain on the skin longer done this way, and none of it will show when first applied. The only skin comes from internal disturbances, such as fever, elimination, or an overtaxed digestion. Clean up the condition and the skin will not be in this state. Cold water rinses will help to contract the pores, also help to get the blood to the skin, giving it a healthier appearance. If you eat very much meat, or pastries; in fact, any foods that are apt to cause fermentation, you should omit them just now, and try to take foods that will help the system. A diet of vegetables and fruit would be ideal at this time, with a short time before the pores contract again, but the oily condition will be lessened as you succeed in clearing the system.

W.—After a person is grown, the bones are set and there is very little chance to change their shape. Some thing, however, may be done to straighten the leg by learning to stand correctly. Better have a doctor examine the leg and advise you about this.

WEDDING PARTY WENT ASKEW WHEN BRIDESMAIDS BLUNDERED*

Famous Story of Unreadiness and Its Meaning for Ordinary Living Today----Some Common Types of Character.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Weddings and funerals mean--while five others had empty lamps, and at the appearance of the bridegroom tried to borrow oil from their companions. Because they were unready, the wise and foolish made a challenge to a study and a waste of the forces at work in control of human society. The first have learned nothing from the hard times; the second have won preparation for the world's tomorrow.

Such a Little Bit of Oil. Destiny's door swings on small hinges. It was such a little bit of oil that the foolish virgins needed, and they lived in a land of olives, where oil was abundant on every side. Because they lacked an ounce or two of this common lighting fuel, all their preparations for the wedding--the new clothes they had bought, the special bathing and anointing of their own families and friends in their part in the festivities--all, was wasted. It recalls the old rhyme, "For want of a nail the shoe was lost."

Slack and shiftless folk there always have been, and always will be among all races of mankind. Human nature complaints throughout the ages. The wise and foolish virgins are acutely in evidence today. The five easy-going bridesmaids thought that every thing would turn out all right, without their bothering themselves. Surely the haves would share with the have-nots. It does not take deep powers of penetration to perceive the social picture contained in the incident.

As the event showed, the wise virgins could not aid the foolish without becoming foolish themselves. There are many things that one person cannot do for another, as every parent knows. Individual responsibility is one of the most impressive truths of life. "Even a man that is wise in his own faith," Right now, am I witnessing the tragedy of a family wherein the only son, the last of his name and line, is unable to meet an emergency because his fond parents all through his life insisted upon making all decisions for him, and letting him accept no responsibilities for himself. Now that they need him desperately he is unable to help them. At the hour of opportunity his lamp is empty and dark.

The Old Editor's Counsel.

All of the vast problems of human preparedness is contained in this old story which has for centuries gripped the imagination of the world. To be ready for life, to be ready for opportunity, to be ready for death, to be ready for God, is everybody's first concern.

All of education is but a providing of oil for the lamps of life. Recently my old friend, James Kearney, the Trenton editor and publicist, died; and he left a letter to his son, telling him how to carry on the paper. He advised him to seek for himself a variety of experiences, with all kinds of people; for nothing is ever so simple; can enter an editor's life without contributing to his efficiency as an editor. The ingredients of the oil of preparation are numberless.

We all know wise parents who make it a habit to help their children seize opportunities to see celebrities, to witness the newest wonders, to read the great books of the day. They are the ones who instill the idea of readiness into formative minds. It is by fullness of preparation in little things that one is fitted for great living.

Two classes of persons have come through the world's ordeal upon these who were ready of the past four years; those who,

Picture the End.

This story was told in the Temple area by Jesus on one of the last days of His life. His friends had been pointing out to Him the corner of the Temple; and He had responded that the time was coming--it arrived in the year 70--when not one stone would be left standing upon another. From that point the Teacher proceeded, in grim and awesome words, to portray the end of the world, and the return of the Son of Man in judgment. He made clear by most explicit declarations, that of the time of that great day and hour no man could know. Many of us who cherish the blessed hope of His return strangely ignore these words of the Master.

Myriads of Pre-millenialists insist upon seeing in the present many portents of Christ's coming. The other day I read an editorial by a friend wherein he strongly suggested that the year of 1934 would witness this supreme event. I marvelled that he could so flatly disregard our Lord's emphatic teaching that the great day would not be known in advance by anybody.

At this point Jesus dwelt in His portrayal of a wedding, with ten waiting bridesmaids, five of whom kept their lamps filled and ready--we should dwell more fully upon these who were ready of the past four years; those who, make known the meaning of the day's doings. They are the ones who instill the idea of readiness into formative minds. It is by fullness of preparation in little things that one is fitted for great living.
